ANP Ltd. Automation Without
Loopholes with V-Office

About ANP Ltd.

ANP Ltd. is one of Ontario's leading resources for municipal, industrial, and agricultural wastewater infrastructure and processes, with a focus on turning waste into value. Established 2 decades back, it is a family owned and operated business with 500 employees that cares about the environment and how their operations can make a difference.

We were sceptical to use V-Office while looking for solution to do conversion from legacy software. The decision to use V-Office was certainly a table turner for us. Implementation was quick and our complete business got automated without loopholes. It is very user friendly .

ANP had used different systems nothing was working well for their business. They had different systems for different processes they were both duplicating information and wasting valuable time. They were looking out for a solution that would allow them to input information only once and have it accessible throughout their network and across geographies. V-Office assisted the business in terms of growth, development, speed, accuracy across their business. V-Office proved to be the best for the company overall and it actually works with every aspect of our company. Now, they use one solution instead of five or six separate legacy software solutions.
